Your Income Tax

Federal income tax payments become delinquent on March 15th. For the convenience of our readers we will present under this heading a series of authenticated articles which may help answer some of the questions likely to arise. W. D. Malloy, deputy collector of internal revenue for this district, opened offices February 1 at Room 5, in the basement of the postoffice and announced he will be at the office on Monday and Tuesday and his office hours are 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. After February 13, his schedule in this county includes Placerville February 13, 14 and 15; at Camino postoffice February 22; and at Placerville again March 1st, 3rd, 4th, 10th and 11th.

Who is the Head of a Family

For income tax purposes there can be only one head of a family. In addition to being the chief financial support, the head of a family must be related by blood, marriage, or adoption to his dependents, and he must have a legal or moral obligation to exercise family control over them and provide for their care. As such he is entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person—$2,000.

There are some unusual cases under this classification. A single person, who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected by blood, marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for them is based upon a legal or moral obligation, is the head of a family, and as such is entitled to the exemption allowed a married person—$2,000. In addition he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent.

Another example not so much out of the usual is this: A widower who supports in his household his aged mother and his child 17 years of age is the head of a family, and as such is entitled to an exemption of $2,000 and a credit of $800 for two dependents.

Not infrequently a case like this is reported: It involves the support of an indigent adult by a single person who is morally and legally obligated to provide a home for this individual. In such a case the exemption as the head of a family may be allowed—the circumstances of each case are considered in making the determination. If the individual so supported is not financially dependent, even though the taxpayer maintains a common home and furnishes the chief support, the latter may not claim the exemption.

A taxpayer who supports in his home his minor children over whom he exercises family control is classified as the head of a family, even though the children may have an income of their own sufficient for their maintenance. If he does not support them, by reason of their own income, but does exercise family control, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

What is a "Family?" "In one household" is a phrase which confronts a great many taxpayers when they come to make out their income tax returns. What do the regulations mean when they classify as the head of a family one who actually supports and maintains "in one household" a certain number of dependents?

Income-tax regulations are not straight and narrow in interpreting this phrase. It may mean the taxpayer's personal residence, an apartment, rooms in a boarding house, living quarters in a hotel, or such other place as she or he may occupy as a temporary or permanent residence. It is not always necessary that a taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof the whole year round in order that he be allowed the exemption given the head of a family. If the common home is maintained, and the parent is away from home much of the time on business, or a child is away at school or on a visit, that is still "one household," and the exemption is allowed.

It may be unavoidable for a parent to keep his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere—that constitutes "one household." But a person who, without necessity, gives the dependent of another

COUNTY DRAFT QUOTA IS 30 MEN

Credit For National Guard Enlistment Will Be Six Months Coming Through

Selective Service headquarters for El Dorado County announced on Monday that the county will supply thirty men from the selective service list during February.

The thirty will constitute El Dorado County's quota in the third call for selectees for one year of military training.

In response of this word, the office announced that preparatory to classification of additional men in the selective service list, additional questionnaires would go out on Monday and every day this week.

It had been suggested that it was possible El Dorado County's quota in the third selective service induction might be more than met by the county's being credited for the volunteer enlistment of approximately sixty men in Company D, 115th Engineers, California National Guard.

In reply to an inquiry concerning this matter, the Selective Service Board received word that the county will be credited for the volunteer enlistments, but that the credit will not be received in time to apply on the February selective service call.

It was indicated that it may be as much as six months before such credit is applied.

FOUR MINING BILLS NOTED

Mass Of Proposed Acts Includes "Freaks"; One Hits Roosters' Crowing

By A. G. THURMAN

Assemblyman, Sixth District

COLFAX—We would like to discuss in detail some of the proposed measures which may be of interest to the people of the Sixth Assembly District but that will be impossible until we receive the printed bills.

When we left Sacramento following the recess, but 350 of the 2564 bills introduced in the Assembly had been printed. Likewise but a small number of the bills introduced in the Senate had been printed.

In every session, there are numerous "freak" bills introduced. Last session there was the "sugar bowl" bill and this session there is the bill to prohibit roosters from being kept within 300 feet of any dwelling in any city.

Of course the "freak" bills are in the minority. The many measures introduced are not necessarily new laws proposed but a large number of bills introduced are amendments to existing laws. There are many bills which have been introduced to amend the fish and game code, and labor code and other state codes.

Of interest to gold mining, but four mining bills have been introduced, one in the lower house and three in the Senate. The Assembly Bill would require gold dredge operators to fill up their dredging holes upon the completion of their operations.

Senate Bill No. 139, by Senator Fletcher, would require county recorders, when requested, to furnish certified abstracts of title, showing instruments of record, required in proceedings to obtain patent to mineral lands of the United States.

Senate Bill No. 845, by Senator Dillinger, relates to mining claims, tunnel locations and mill sites and the recording of notice of location, etc.

Senator Jesse Mayo has introduced a bill which will again permit the Division of Mines to handle the sale of their publications. At the present time, such publications are handled by the Bureau of Documents.

Your assemblyman was co-author with Assemblyman Rodney Turner of Kern County, on an assembly joint resolution memorializing congress and the President of the United States to exempt all income from gold mining from all excess profit taxes, as has done under the Excess Profits Tax Law of 1917. The resolution passed both in the assembly and in the senate.

Of interest to the sportsmen of the district, a total of 174 bills pertaining to fish and game have been introduced, 61 in the Senate and 113 in the Assembly. We will discuss some of these bills in a later article.

Bears Play Broncos At Berkeley, Oct. 11th

'41 CAR PLATE DEADLINE IS NEAR

Penalties Will Be Imposed On Those Who Fail To Get Licenses By Tuesday

SACRAMENTO (UP)—An unprecedented rush for 1941 license plates swamped motor vehicle offices today as the remaining half million motorists without new license tags were warned that penalties will be in effect after the deadline at midnight tomorrow.

The sale of new licenses is far behind the usual number. Director of Motor Vehicles James Carter announced. Rains throughout most of the state contributed to the delay. Additionally, many out-of-state motorists have gone to work on defense projects and are unfamiliar with California regulations on licenses.

Carter emphasized the following three points in securing licenses:

1. There will be no extension after the deadline.
2. The amount due is shown on the 1940 white registration card.
3. The penalty for delinquents is 100 per cent of the plate fee and 50 per cent of the motor vehicle license tax.

Motorists unable to appear at a license office may mail their applications to the department of motor vehicles in Sacramento, with the post mark before tomorrow midnight.

Entry Forced At Raley's Store

Prowlers Visited Place Friday Night, According To Report To Police

A checkup continues at Raley's Drive-In Market in an attempt to learn what, if anything, was taken by the party or parties who forced entrance into the place Friday night.

The management reported to city police Saturday night that the store had been entered sometime during the night before. However, it was not immediately apparent that anything except, possibly, a small quantity of foodstuffs.

In their investigation, police noted that entrance had been gained through an adjoining warehouse, from which the prowlers broke through a wall into the store.

"SPRAINED ANKLE" TURNS OUT TO BE FRACTURE OF LEG

The "sprained ankle" which Geo. H. Volz received while engaged in winter sports a week ago Sunday, turned out to be a broken leg.

Mr. Volz was inclined to minimize the injury and thought it only a sprain and, with some slight difficulty, was able to continue about his accustomed duties last week.

But the "sprain" continued to bother him and so Saturday he went to a doctor with it and learned, much to his surprise, that he had been getting around all week with a broken leg.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Larkin, formerly of this city.

"DICTATORSHIP" POWERS SEEN IN LEASE-LEND BILL, WITNESS WARNS SENATE HEARING

Former Governor P. F. La Follette, Of Wisconsin, Says Measure Would Give "One Man, And One Man Alone, The Decision Over Peace Or War"

By JOHN R. BEAL

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin charged today that the administration's "all out" aid to Britain bill would give "one man, and one man alone, the decision over peace and war."

La Follette told the senate foreign relations committee that the one man in whom war or peace making powers would be vested would be President Roosevelt. La Follette was the first opposition witness to appear before the committee as it started its second week of hearings on the measure.

The house meantime prepared to open debate on the measure at noon. Administration leaders expected the bill to be passed there, without any crippling amendments, by the end of the week. La Follette told the committee that if the bill is passed the United States would be "fooling" Britain by leading her to believe that military aid would be forthcoming in the event that material aid failed to make possible Germany's defeat.

He said that the measure would clothe the United States with "all the trappings of dictatorship against which the bill is supposed to be aimed."

"The lease-lend bill is not just another of those 'steps short of war' he said. 'It is the most far-reaching every piece of property in the United States on the land, in the air and on the sea—and not only our own property, but the property of any foreign government as well.

"2. It empowers the President, and him alone, to acquire this property and to dispose of it to any foreign government on such terms as he, and he alone shall decide.

"3. For practical purposes it vests with one man, and one man alone, the decision over peace and war for America."

La Follette expressed doubt that the British felt they were fighting "our war." He warned that "another Hoare-Laval deal" may come in the future, leaving the United States "alone at war with all the world."

There were suggestions that Laval might re-enter the cabinet as head of a triumvirate under Petain or that he might be named the agent of the Vichy government to handle all dealings with Germany.

Whether Petain would yield to such a solution was not certain. There were some suggestions that Darian might be snubbed in Paris by Otto Abetz, Adolf Hitler's agent, unless he was prepared to offer full restitution to Laval.

COUGARS SWEEP IONE; GIRLS TO DRILL IN JACKSON GAMES

The C team game was a walk-away, 25 to 2. The B team game saw the Cougars ahead, 35 to 25, and in the A team game, it was 27 to 20 for the Cougars.

The drill team exhibition, with new formations and card stunts, came mid-way during the evening, at half time in the B game.

Smart Salute to February

To honor George Washington's birthday, have "Cherry Bridge Soda" for the refreshment feature of your next afternoon party. It's easily made by filling tall glasses with alternate spoonfuls of canned cherries and vanilla ice cream, adding your favorite carbonated beverage, and topping with whipped cream and a cherry.

If you are afraid your cream will not whip, put it into the top of the double boiler, and pack salt and ice in the bottom part. It will then whip easily.

Valentine's Day is to time to send Valentine greetings, notes, or the tiny gift that you can tuck in an envelope to neglected friends. Friendships like everything else in this world must be kept in repair. It is the time too for spontaneous giving—a home-made cake, candy or a bit of needlework to a neighbor or a friend not because you owe them something but just to give an outlet to the generous impulse that we too often smother at our own risk.

February is the best time for those cozy little dinner parties to which you invite the people you really like, the dinner party that calls for from 2 to 4 guests and that demands the warmth of fire-light and the glow of candle light. Don't make these dinner parties elaborate. Keep them as simple as possible.

To have that overtone of immaculateness to your dinner table, remember to polish the silver, rug the glass to a glitter and have the linen fresh and spotless. Your centerpiece is a matter of choice. In winter candles are always appropriate. An arrangement of fruits and nuts may be considered.

My neighbor Patsy-Lal read somewhere that nothing was so expressive of a hostess as her centerpiece. Before her last dinner party she gave so much time to working out a wistful effect in delicate pastels that she scorched the chicken and burned the potatoes. At the last minute she had to send out for chops and potato chips.

If you have some attractive bouillon cups serve a soup—the cream soups always make a good beginning for a dinner. Work out a menu on the basis of this one:

Cream of asparagus soup, green olives, salted almonds, smothered chicken, candied yams or sweet potatoes, buttered string beans, grapefruit sherbet, lazy daisy cake; Or, Crab Louis, ripe olives, sweet gherkins, mock chicken legs, cream peas and potatoes, spinach mold or broccoli, deep dish apple pie and cheese.

For a company dinner, plan to cook chicken so that it will not require your attention at the last minute. A simple and appetizing way is:

Smothered Chicken

Cut young chickens in pieces for serving, wash and dry. Roll in seasoned flour and saute in butter or pork fat. When well browned place

Clock Punishment

Dr. Myers Discusses Child Discipline

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

● Much of the advice to parents on discipline has been written from the viewpoint of the child in the classroom or nursery school.

In the nursery school, for example, the child goes through a regular routine, lies down for a nap at a regular time and eats when and what the other children eat. If he gets too much out of step with the group he is merely isolated. The impression is given that the parent ought to be able to guide the child at home just as easily; and more easily, indeed, since he is only one.

This very fact that he is only one renders the parent's problem of discipline much harder than it is at the nursery school. When her child is with the group he tends to fall in line with the other children, and when he must be isolated from the group he finds his pleasures greatly interfered with. But at home, when he is isolated, the effect may be very different. Unless he has a twin brother or sister, he is merely cut off from older or younger playmates; more often only from adults.

Keep Child in Sight

Anyway, the child sent to his room may get into devilry while there and bring on himself further punishment. As soon as he has learned to accept NO as final and not to venture to get down from a chair when ordered there, have him sit where he can easily be seen by the parent for a definite period of twenty minutes by the clock. In this event, be sure the chair is low enough for his feet to reach the floor comfortably, or that there is a foot rest. Let him then sing or talk as he likes, no radio, toys, or books—but merely be restrained from walking about. If he wishes to converse with you then, or ask questions, let him do so. Act entirely as if nothing unusual had happened; only don't argue with him or be affected in any way by his promises, cries or pleadings.

The Clock Decides

Let him know that the clock alone will tell him when his sentence ends. No indeterminate sentence, if you want to make his punishment impersonal and effective. When the time is up, don't ask him to promise to be good. By and by he, like a philosopher, will meet such punishment without emotion and will quietly submit to it as inevitable, merely interested in how long. If, instead, you ordered him to sit there till you told him to get down he would argue, cry, beg, plead, and you also would betray emotions. The child from three to ten may acquire great respect for the decision of a clock; hardly can he have so much for ours. We get headaches, lose our tempers and we wobble; but the clock does not.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Please suggest a good plan for teaching table manners.

A. Observe good manners yourself in a quiet, calm, happy meal-time atmosphere. Occasionally make gentle positive suggestions on the proper way to eat, one item at a time. Compliment the child often on items of his good manners. Let me send you a selected list of books on good manners for parents and children. Just write me at 285 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

in large casserole or covered roaster, season with chopped parsley, a bit of garlic, a tablespoonful of sherry. Cover with light cream and bake in moderate oven until tender.

A simple dessert for a company dinner is:

Grapefruit Sherbet

1½ cups sugar, 1 cup water, 2 egg whites and 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 cups grapefruit juice.

Boil sugar and water together for five minutes. Add fruit juice. Cool and freeze to mush-like consistency. Beat egg whites until stiff, then beat in 2 tablespoons of sugar. Fold in fruit mixture. Freeze, when solid, beat once vigorously with a wooden spoon. Freeze again.

Have you ever tried:

Mock Chicken Legs

Have your butcher cut "round" section of pork and of veal into squares. (It isn't as impossible as it sounds). Place about 3 of each on a skewer. Season, flour and brown in butter. Arrange in a casserole. Season with onion or garlic, a bit of lemon peel; cover with water and bake in moderate oven. If pork is very lean add a little butter before thickening juice.

The Old Captain has a treasured recipe for:

Deep Dish Apple Pie

6 tart apples (medium), ½ table-spoon sugar, 1 tablespoon water, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon of warm honey, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup liquid honey.

Combine sugar and spices with sliced apples. Arrange a layer in deep pie plate. Sprinkle each layer with honey. Sprinkle water over top layer. Dot with butter. Top with pastry. Bake until apples are tender and crust is brown. After removing from oven, spread warm honey over crust.

While on the subject of dinner parties, when I was at the El Dorado county exhibit at Treasure Island once, I saw a party of people approaching and heard a woman say while her face brightened: "Oh, El Dorado county! I visited there once. That was the place where they gave such pleasant dinner parties and where the food was so delicious."

I've often wondered who was her hostess.

Weds in Reno

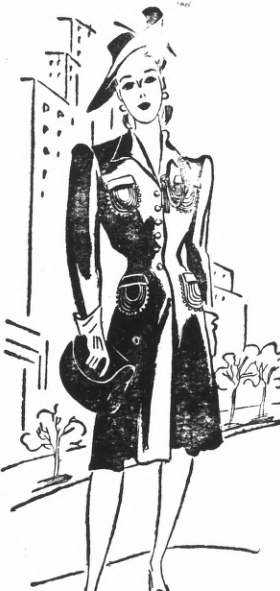

RENO (UP) — Shirley Temple's big brother, Jack, and his bride, Miriam Ellsworth of Los Altos, Calif., were honeymooning today.

The couple, who had planned a formal church wedding at Del Monte in March, changed their minds yesterday and flew to Reno where they were married by the Rev. Warren L. Warren L. Botkin in the Trinity Episcopal Church. They will live in Palo Alto.

Mrs. Harry Reaside was a caller from Lotus on Monday.

J. A. "Johnnie" Wilson is here from San Francisco visiting relatives at Fruit Ridge.

D. Richard G. Hosking and Ernest Scheiber were callers from El Dorado on Monday afternoon. Dr. Hosking is president of the El Dorado County Bartlett baseball club, their presence reminded us.

Double Duty
Dress

By VERA WINSTON

SOME OF the nicest clothes lead double lives. Here's a coat-dress which can be worn with a frock underneath or as a dress for street wear when the weather permits. The fabric is good old navy blue serge, that hardy perennial which is now going strong. Sou-tache braid with tiny ball edging trims the four curved pockets with straight flap tops. Navy cords with tassels ends slip through gold rings and one tassel is tucked into the pocket.

Your Income Tax

a home, is not, under the income-tax regulations, the head of a family.

Another term that may be, in some cases, confusing or perplexing to many taxpayers is "living together," in the case of a husband and wife. Again the income-tax regulations are liberal in interpreting a phrase which, precisely defined, might do an injustice to a taxpayer. When a common home is maintained, and it becomes necessary for the husband to be away on business occasionally and temporarily, or the wife is absent on a visit, the $2,000 exemption still applies. The relation is not changed, neither is the exemption forfeited, if either husband or wife is unavoidably confined in a sanatorium. If, however, the husband continuously makes his home in one place, and the wife her home at another, they are not "living together" within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code.

MARION MARTIN "ABOUT TOPS IN NORTH CALIFORNIA BOWLING"

Marion Martin, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. Cyril Heusner, of Shingle Springs, is "just about tops in Northern California bowling," according to the Sacramento Union.

Mrs. Martin came to Placerville from North Sacramento last week to participate in the opening of the new Pear Bowl and her best game of the night was a 170. This may have been due to several factors chief of which, perhaps, is the circumstance that Mrs. Martin is accustomed to bowling with a much longer approach to the foul line than the local alleys afford.

In any event, even those who took note of her bowling at the Pear Bowl, may be interested in the following, from Friday's sports section of The Sacramento Union:

"We've come to the conclusion long ago that Sacramento's Marion Martin is just about tops in northern California bowling. After her play in the state tournament last March in Los Angeles and the city tourney and the state fair classic last year, we were positive of it."

"When she beat Ida Uovich of San Jose in a 20-game challenge match recently we decided then and there to bet a sawbuck any time she cared to take a fling at the pins."

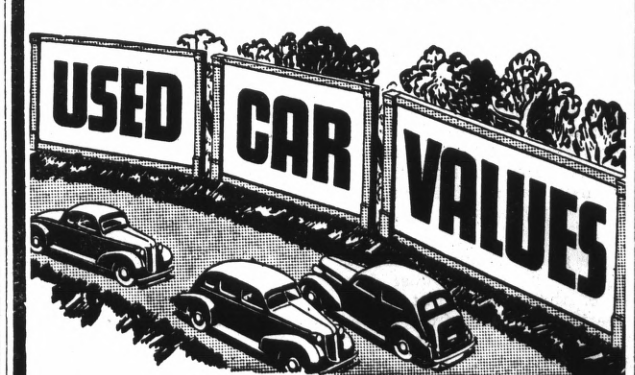

"What's been holding us back from getting rich is that sawbuck. But Marion keeps on winning and last week at the Lodi Bowl in Lodi she cracked both the men's and women's record."

Bowling with a mixed team, supposed to average 850 but actually averaging only 839, she rolled a phenomenal 684 series. Teamed with Dixie Bottaro, Emma Lou Leserer, Paul Collier and Curley Freeman, Marion chalked up a 202, 232 and 250. All three games were rolled without a split or a miss.

BOWLING ATTRACTIONS OF WEEKEND DRAW LARGE ATTENDANCE

El Dorado County residents interested in bowling had opportunity to watch the work of proficient players during the weekend as a schedule of special matches was presented at the Pear Bowl.

Saturday night's main event was a five-man match between Sacramento and Lodi teams, while a feature of the evening was the demonstration put on by Gordon Brackett, 13, and Bill Handell, 12, two of Lodi's leading junior bowlers, with R. Davey and D. Sinclair, of Sonoma, also 12 years old.

Sunday there was a feature singles match between Mrs. Gertrude Farrell, of Tuolumne County, and Mrs. Verna Coppin, of Placerville; and another match between five-man teams from Richmond and Sonoma.

A "battle of the century" involving newspapermen from San Francisco and Placerville, set for Saturday night, failed to materialize owing to the late arrival of the San Franciscans. However, Dan Dorsey, one of the S. F. bowling scribes, arrived in time to demonstrate that he knows most of the things he writes about bowling.

Remember When?

Rambling down memory lane, in the two-cylinder Rambler of 1908, brings back many a fond recollection... such, for instance, as the blushing bride, in her marvelous creation of the dressmaker's art; and the happy skating party, also dressed "fit to kill." These pictures of the "good old days" were supplied by an ardent picture fan, W. B. Curtis, advertising manager for the western marketers of Mobilgas and Mobiloil, as reminders of "I remember when."

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Next Wednesday, February 12th, will mark the one hundred and thirty-second anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln—one of America's immortals and one of the most beloved and ablest apostles of true democracy in all the course of world history.

It is customary in this country, in any hour of stress and crisis, to take courage and counsel from the nation's great leaders who brought the United States of America through other critical hours, when our very national existence seemed threatened.

And certainly it would be prudent at this time, when democracy is on trial the world over, to re-examine our democratic heritage—and take sober stock of our citizenship. There are grave responsibilities in a democracy, as well as great privileges. For democracy is not simply an endowment, which can be handed down from one generation to the next; it is a way of life, which must be lived—and zealously guarded—if it is to endure.

In his historic Gettysburg address, just 77 years ago last November, Abraham Lincoln re-dedicated this nation to the proposition that all men are created equal and that this democracy, or any other democracy, cannot long endure unless its government is truly of, by and for the people.

The words are so familiar that they may have lost some of their significance. To Lincoln, "the people" meant all the people in this nation. There was no segregation, in the Gettysburg address, of labor and employers, of farmers and city workers, of Protestants or Catholics or Jews or Gentiles. There was no "class consciousness" in that immortal address; there was no attempt to turn one class against another. To Lincoln, there were no classes; there were just "the people."

Recognition of that simple truth has become vitally important in this nation, during this emergency. For the key to whether democracy shall survive in this country is not the strength of Hitler's troops, or Stalin's red army. The true test lies in our own strength and unity as a people—in our treatment of minorities, as well as majorities; in our ability to live democratically.

When Hitler's name has become just a bad memory of a dark chapter in world affairs; when Mussolini is recalled as only a seditious buffoon who strutted briefly across the pages of history—Abraham Lincoln, the friend of man, whose life and work became the exemplification of real democracy, will still be enshrined in the hearts of men who love liberty in every land on the face of the globe.

But the people, in the United States, have urgent need to make a modern application of Lincoln's principles to current affairs. If every majority group in this country will grant to every minority group the same rights which it would wish were it a minority, then class consciousness of unity of purpose and interest which will quickly eliminate those conditions which are now an open invitation to fifth columnists and provocateurs from totalitarian powers.

If the people of this nation have confidence in the essential fairness of their government, enemy emissaries sent here from abroad will make little headway. But a new deal in government, if it simply shifts the balance of power, with no correction of the fundamental difficulties which occasioned the shift, is no better than the old deal. What this country needs is the inauguration of a fair deal—a deal fair to minorities and majorities alike, the kind of a deal that Abraham Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg. The business man, the laboring man, the farmer, the public servant all have need to re-dedicate themselves to the basic principles of real democracy, if their devotion to Lincoln and his ideals is to be anything more than lip service. This country needs a new devotion to democracy in personal and business relations, as well as in exercise of the voting franchise; it needs more democracy in high places in government.

The motto of the United States, as indicated on our coins, is a dual one—E Pluribus Unum, one out of many, or is it a nation of warring classes—divided against itself? America, during the months ahead, must answer. And on that answer—on our willingness to follow the democratic way of life, or on our selfishness and inadequacy—may depend whether Lincoln's dream shall endure as a reality, or whether the light of liberty is extinguished.

REAR ADMIRAL PEOPLES. PROCUREMENT OFFICER, IS SUMMONED

WASHINGTON, (IP) — Rear Admiral Christian Joy Peoples, 64, U. S. N., retired, who was head of the treasury procurement division from 1935 to 1939, died today in the navy hospital from a bronchial infection.

Peoples was general inspector of the navy supply corps on the west coast after leaving the procurement division, until his retirement last November.
